Henry graduated from Durham University with a First Class degree in Combined Honours in Social Sciences (Politics & International Relations and History).

After graduating, Henry completed the Postgraduate Diploma in Law, supported by a Lord Bowen Scholarship from Lincoln's Inn. He went on to receive a Lord Denning Scholarship from Lincoln's Inn, and a Senior Scholarship from The University of Law to undertake the Bar Practice Course, which he completed with a High Distinction.

Whilst undertaking his postgraduate studies, Henry won the CEDR National Student Negotiation Competition, and represented England at the International Negotiation Competition in Canada. He also volunteered regularly at the Citizens Advice Witness Service where he was awarded a prize in recognition of his contribution. Outside of the law, Henry enjoys photography and is a committed parkrunner.
